747 Farmington Avenue

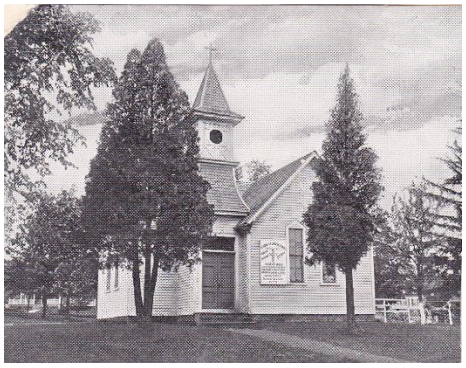
1888

Chapel at Upson Corners

Kensington Congregational Church

300 Years of Faith – 1712-2012 Kensington Congregational Church

"In 1888 a chapel was built on behalf of the many people employed in the brickyards. It stands today as part of Headmasters Salon, corner of New Britain Road and Farmington Avenue (Upson's Corner)." From 300 Years of Faith Kensington Congregational Church, 2012



Later the Chapel was used by the St. Paul's Catholic Church and then as a TAB Hall. Today it is a hair salon.

about 1930-40

2018 Town of Berlin GIS Index.

1915 present owners: Judith Steinberg - Headmasters (Hair Salon)